ABOUT CAPACITY BUILDING AND STABILIZATION

The Capacity Building Program is a stabilization process that provides IAC support, over a 24-month period, for organizational assessment, long range planning, and plan implementation utilizing a standardized assessment tool.

What is Stabilization?

“Stabilization is a long term process that holistically addresses the needs of an organization. Stabilization improves an organization’s ability to thrive in today’s changing climate by enhancing its adaptability and financial strength.”...“Stabilization encourages independent thinking instead of providing prescriptive answers.” “The desired outcome [of stabilization] is for an organization to emerge with the managerial and financial capacity to accommodate artistic risk and implement major institutional change.”

*Nancy R. Sasser
President, National Arts Stabilization*

Stabilization had its origins in attempts to eliminate financial crisis through deficit relief and endowment giving. However, these efforts were narrowly focused, crisis driven, and addressed only specific aspects of management. Over time, similar problems re-surfaced, causing experts to re-evaluate their approach.

Consequently, in recent years, stabilization has widened its focus to look at organizational issues holistically -- linking financial well being to the ability to achieve organizational change. In other words, as a result of participating in a stabilization process, an organization will develop the ability to assess its strengths, weaknesses, environmental challenges and opportunities and utilize this knowledge to adjust its plans to more effectively advance its mission.

Participants in stabilization efforts develop a better understanding of their organization’s resources, capabilities, preferences, and environment. They become more comfortable with change and more secure in their ability to anticipate and respond to the environmental challenges and opportunities.

The Stabilization Process

The stabilization process begins with a team-based strategic assessment of an organization’s health. The team usually includes a group of key managers and board members, led by an outside consultant. The assessment focuses on benchmarks in areas such as governance, planning, human resources, program, communications, facilities, financial profile, and revenue generation. When the assessment is complete, the board, staff, consultant, and key stakeholders agree on a plan of action to address the critical issues identified in the assessment. Financial support for stabilization efforts generally spans multiple years and includes grants for the assessment, plan development, and plan implementation linked to the achievement of key benchmarks.

WHEN TO USE THE CAPACITY BUILDING PROGRAM

The Capacity Building Program is designed to allow arts providers to comprehensively examine their “reason for being,” mission, markets, programs, services, and governance and management structures and general operations with the aim of increased organizational effectiveness. The program is not designed to address single issue needs such as developing marketing or fund raising plans, program planning or evaluation, or feasibility studies.

Consider IAC Capacity Building Program participation (for holistic organizational analysis and improvement) when your organization fits into one of the three following categories:

1. The organization is healthy and interested in re-evaluating the organization’s mission, exploring assumptions about the organization’s service and audience, and balancing the need to ensure artistic quality and fostering participation.
2. The organization has recurring problems (i.e., deficit, staff/board turnover, poor audience participation, etc.) that may relate to overall organizational issues not specific situations;
 - The organization’s attempts to resolve recurring problems have not been successful;
 - The organization has never completed some type of overall organizational assessment;
 - The organization does not have and/or is not implementing a long range plan and/or capacity building plan;
 - The organization shows willingness for self-examination and making needed changes to improve programming and operations.
3. The organization has completed some type of overall organizational assessment in the last 5 years;
 - The organization has and is currently implementing a long range plan and/or capacity building plan; and
 - The organization wants to further strengthen its programming and operations through a process of self-examination and making needed changes.

ABOUT THE INDIANA ARTS COMMISSION

The Indiana Arts Commission (IAC), a state agency, was established in 1967 to increase the support, awareness, and outreach of the arts in communities across the state. The Commission administers and distributes funds for arts programs and services appropriated by the Indiana General Assembly and the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA).

The agency is governed by a 15-member board of directors appointed by the Governor of the State of Indiana to four-year terms. The Commission's programs and services are supported by a professional staff and over 100 Hoosier volunteers. The Commission holds quarterly business meetings throughout Indiana, which are open to the general public for observation.

Members of the Indiana Arts Commission

Jim Bodenmiller, Vice-Chair, West Lafayette	Joan David, Evansville
Ronald J. Stratten, Secretary, Indianapolis	William Hopper, Vincennes
Jack Schriber, Exec. Committee, Evansville	Cliff Lambert, Terre Haute
Ms. Lee Marks, Exec. Committee, Shelbyville	Louis Ortiz, Merrillville

Sandi Clark, Bloomington	Steven Tuchman, Indianapolis

Long-term goals

The Indiana Arts Commission has established five goals:

1. Maximize public and private resources for the arts.
2. Broaden the availability of and access to a wide range of artistic expressions.
3. Strengthen the capacity of arts providers artistically, financially, and administratively.
4. Secure a significant role for the arts in economic development, education, tourism, and other high-priority areas.
5. Increase awareness of the value of the arts, especially its importance as a vehicle for lifelong learning.

Grant making philosophy

The Indiana Arts Commission recognizes the importance of public financial support to sustain a wide variety of artistic disciplines and expressions within Indiana. Grants will serve as an incentive for developing and strengthening the capacity of communities to plan and implement quality arts activities. All funding decisions will be made in open processes that meaningfully involve citizens in decisions about how state and federal tax dollars will be used to support the arts in each region and statewide.

Conflict of Interest policy

Board members, staff, and volunteers of the Indiana Arts Commission must declare conflicts of interest that may preclude their impartial participation in decisions concerning state or regional policies, services, or the allocation of statewide or regional arts funding. These individuals cannot participate in related discussions or decisions when a conflict of interest is declared. (For more information, contact the IAC.)

Overview of the Indiana Arts Commission Regional Partnership Initiative

In 1997, the Indiana Arts Commission (IAC) and 12 community-based organizations jointly established the Indiana Regional Partnership Initiative (RPI), a collaborative project to enhance support for arts and cultural activities statewide, especially in under-served areas. The partnership was developed to address issues that arose during the IAC's 1995-96 strategic planning process:

1. the desire for easy access to quality technical assistance that would further the financial, managerial, and artistic development of arts providers; and
2. the desire for more local control in the allocation of state resources for the arts.

Each of the 12 Regional Arts Partners (RAPs) works in cooperation with the IAC to provide four core services to artists, arts providers, and arts consumers in a specified multi-county region of Indiana. The core services are: cultural planning, grants making, information and referral, and technical assistance. Regional cultural planning efforts began in 1998. The Regional Arts Partners use information about the needs of local artists, arts providers, and arts consumers to develop and provide services.

Beginning in 1999, the IAC provides a regional allocation of funding to all RAPs to be used for re-granting and services to arts providers within their regions. Most organizations seeking operational support or arts project funding will apply to the Regional Arts Partner which serves the county in which the applicant is located.

The IAC provides direct funding to multi-regional or statewide arts organizations, organizations requesting capacity building funds, technical assistance providers, and individual artists.

ABOUT THE CAPACITY BUILDING PROGRAM FOR ARTS PROVIDERS

Program description

The Capacity Building Program is a 24-month process that involves commitment to organizational assessment and improvement.

Phase I: Organizational Assessment and Planning

The organization governing board, staff, and other key stakeholders, led by an outside consultant, must utilize the IAC Organizational Assessment Guide (which accompanies this application) to examine the agency's capacities in light of governance, management, and environment challenges and opportunities. In this phase, the team will identify the organization's strengths and weaknesses, specific areas needing improvement, and develop capacity building strategies. Phase I has two products: 1) a complete assessment report, and 2) a capacity building plan based on the assessment findings containing output, process, and outcome objectives.

- Phase I funding may begin no earlier than July 1, 2003.

Phase II: Plan Implementation

The board, staff, and outside consultant, as needed, carry out the activities identified in the agency's capacity building plan in order to achieve governance and managerial benchmarks that will improve the organization's long term viability. Phase II products are the accomplishment of benchmarks on the timeline specified in the plan. Grantees will provide regular progress reports to the IAC to document outcomes.

Phase II funding begins after an organization submits its assessment report and capacity building plan to the IAC.

- Phase II funding may end no later than June 30, 2005.

Grant amount

An organization may apply for up to 75 percent of allowable project costs, or $20,000, whichever is less, to be expended over a 24-month period. The minimum request is $1,000.

Match requirement

All applicants must provide at least a 25 percent match of the total expenses. Your match may be a combination of cash and in-kind (the value of necessary donated goods and services). However, at least one-half of your match must be cash.

For example:

Total Two-Year Expenses	Maximum Two-Year Grant Request	Required Two-Year Match	Minimum Two-Year Cash Match
$40,000.	$20,000.	$20,000.	$10,000.

Required pre-application consultations

All prospective organizations and their consultants for Phase I must consult with IAC staff prior to the submission of the CBP application.

Completing the form on your computer

You may download either the Adobe Acrobat or Microsoft Word for Windows version of the guidelines and application form from the IAC web site at www.state.in.us/iac/. You may also request a diskette or e-mail version of the Microsoft Word for Windows or Adobe Acrobat guidelines and application form by calling or e-mailing the IAC.

General instructions for submitting your application packet

APPLICATION REVIEW PROCESS

Staff review of submitted applications

Applicants must provide complete information on all forms, authorized signatures where indicated, assurances that the application is legally binding, and support documents (as requested) to allow for a uniform review of the application.

After you have submitted your application to the IAC, staff will review your materials to ensure that all required information was submitted. If the staff finds any discrepancies, applicants will be notified by telephone and in writing of errors that make the application ineligible for review. Applicants will have five (5) days from the date of notification to come to the Indiana Arts Commission's office in Indianapolis and personally make the necessary changes to their application, including adding, deleting, or revising information. If not corrected within the five-day grace period, applications will be ineligible for review. The IAC will dispose of ineligible applications not claimed after 30 days.

Advisory panel review

The Indiana Arts Commission has established an advisory panel process to assist in its evaluation of grant applications. Panels appointed by the Arts Commission will be composed of Hoosiers who are knowledgeable in the arts, not-for-profit management and/or community development. The IAC will strive to balance advisory panel composition with consideration to race, gender, regional representation and special needs.

Advisory panels will convene in the spring of 2003. Panel meetings are open to the public for observation and may be recorded. Applicants will be invited and are encouraged to attend. Applicants cannot interact with or lobby panel members on behalf of their applications before, during, or after the meeting.

Commission action

The Indiana Arts Commission will review and ratify all funding recommendations for the initial 24-month period. Commission meetings are open to the public for observation and may be recorded. The Program Evaluation Committee will also review all Interim Reports and requests for Phase II funding and has the right to recommend funding adjustments to the full Commission.

Reconsideration policy and appeal process

The reconsideration process is designed to review the method and fairness of the IAC decision concerning a grant application. This process is not intended to impose a different panel's choices/judgment over the original panel's decision. Dissatisfaction with the denial of a grant or the amount of an award is not sufficient reason for an appeal.

Applicants may request reconsideration of a funding decision if the applicant can demonstrate:

1. the panel or review team used incorrect review criteria; and/or
2. there was influence by an IAC staff person or IAC volunteer panelist having a conflict of interest; and/or
3. required information submitted by the applicant was withheld from consideration.

Applicants must send a formal letter to the IAC Executive Director stating the reason for reconsideration, based on one or more of the three points above, and evidence of the grounds for the appeal. The letter must be received in the IAC office within 30 days of notification of the IAC grant award in question.

An appeals committee, appointed by the IAC Chair, will review all requests for appeal and make recommendations to the full Commission at its next business meeting. All decisions of the Commission are final and may not be appealed further.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER A GRANT IS AWARDED?

Notification of your grant award

All applicants will be notified in writing of grant decisions after the Commission meets and approves the grants (June 2003). Grantees will receive a notification packet containing an award letter, a Grant Agreement, and other pertinent materials that must be completed, signed and returned to the IAC before a first payment can be processed.

Acknowledgment and credit of public funding

Broad public visibility of the success of Indiana's artists and arts organizations is essential. By promoting yourself, your activity, and your state-funded grant, you are working to strengthen the role of the arts in Indiana. You are demonstrating to the community the impact of the arts and how the money legislators have allocated for the arts is being well spent.

One important way you can demonstrate the importance of public funding for the arts is to credit the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts in all publicity and printed materials associated with your funded activities. For recipients of an organizational support grant, this means all activities and programs of the organization. It is important that we have help from the major arts organizations in the state as we work to promote and encourage the arts in Indiana.

All publicity or programs, electronic and printed, must contain the IAC logo and the following credit line:
Provided with support from the Indiana Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

The credit logo is supplied to all grant recipients on a CD-Rom. The image can be manipulated as needed. It is also available on diskette by request. The logo must be reproduced as a unit without alteration outside of size.

How to use the IAC logo and credit line

There are ways to incorporate the credit language and logo into your publicity and informational materials. Including this information in as many places as possible helps your community understand the impact of public funding of the arts. Below are some specific requirements:

Promotional Materials

Grantees must credit the IAC and the NEA in printed materials (including newsletters, catalogs, brochures, announcements, invitations, and press releases), films and video tapes, electronic transmissions (including Internet sites), and non-written announcements (such as audio descriptions for people who are sight-impaired) regarding all activities for which Commission funds are used. Grantees receiving organizational support must credit the IAC and NEA in all promotional materials.

Programs

Grantees must credit the IAC and the NEA on the title page of printed programs, in a type size no smaller than 8-point. If the type size is smaller than 8-point both the NEA and the IAC logos need to appear. Also, list the Commission in the donor category most appropriate to the level of financial support your organization is receiving.

Educational Materials

Grantees must credit the IAC and the NEA in all educational materials (including brochures, pamphlets, flyers, postcards, etc.) distributed in association with any IAC-funded program or exhibition. Grantees receiving organizational support must credit the IAC and NEA in all educational materials. Again if not using the credit logo, both the NEA and the IAC logos need to appear.

Web Sites

The Grantee must use the IAC credit logo on the organization's web sites – along with a hyperlink back to the IAC web site. It should be listed in a place appropriate to the web site's mapping, i.e. IAC credit logo on a sponsorship page with a hyperlink and/or IAC and NEA listed as additional resources with a hyperlink to both. For project support, the IAC credit logo must appear on the web page that corresponds to the IAC-funded project.

Advertising

Grantees must credit the IAC and the NEA in all project-related print (including billboards) and/or electronic advertising (including television and the Internet).

News Releases

News releases must credit the IAC and NEA support. A sample support statement could be: This project was supported by the Indiana Arts Commission, with funding from the State of Indiana and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Promotional Appearances and Interviews

On television and radio appearances by your representative(s), verbally acknowledge, at least once during a broadcast, the support your organization received from the IAC and the NEA toward your project or overall operation. Also, you should acknowledge the IAC and NEA support in any newspaper, magazine, or on-line interviews about your organization's program(s).

Verbal Credit

When written credit is not applicable, such as when there is no printed program, give verbal credit prior to each performance or activity. If an announcement is not feasible, consider a sign in the lobby or activity space.

Grant Agreement

The Grant Agreement is your official contract with the Indiana Arts Commission. Capacity Building grantees will be issued one Grant Agreement for the biennium. Read this document carefully as you will be responsible for meeting all the terms and conditions it contains. The Grant Agreement must be signed by the board chair, president, or executive director and returned to the IAC. Your signed Grant Agreement will be reviewed by three other state agencies – The Department of Administration, the Budget Agency, and the Attorney General's office. This is standard procedure and usually takes anywhere from one to two months to complete. When all state official signatures have been affixed to the document, a copy of the fully executed agreement will be sent to you. The original is kept on file at the Indiana Arts Commission. The IAC will not recognize any contractual obligation to an organization without a fully executed copy of the Grant Agreement on file.

First grant payment

The first payment of your grant will be for 90 percent of the Phase I grant allocation. The payment will be mailed to you after your Grant Agreement has been approved by all three state agencies. In general, it takes two months from the time you submit your correctly completed Grant Agreement until the IAC mails your first payment. We will do everything we can to keep this amount of time as short as possible.

Project changes and modifications

During the period of time covered by the Grant Agreement, you must give the IAC prior written notice of any major changes that may affect the funded project, such as significant changes in budget, personnel, dates, scope of activities, etc. Changes that significantly alter the scope of intention of the project will not be approved. You may be required to return all or a portion of your grant money to the IAC.

Interim Report

Each Capacity Building grant recipient must submit Interim Reports every six months after the start of Phase I. This report form will be included in your grant notification packet. The Interim Report will report on the accomplishments, challenges and benefits of your capacity building activities to date.

Second and third grant payments

The second payment will be for the balance of the total Phase I allocation (the final 10 percent) and will be made following receipt and approval of the Phase II application update, which will include the assessment report and the capacity building plan.

The third payment will be for 90 percent of Phase II grant allocation and will be made following receipt and approval of the Phase II application update, which will include the assessment report and the capacity building plan. The second and third grant payments might be combined into one check.

Final Grant Report

All Capacity Building grantees must submit a completed Final Grant Report one month after the ending date of the grant, and no later than July 29, 2005. Your exact due date can be found on Page 1 of your Grant Agreement. The Final Grant Report form will be mailed to you in your grant notification packet. It will include: reporting on the activities and programs that were carried out during the second year of the biennium; a complete, detailed financial accounting that indicates how state, local, and/or private funds were expended; and information on the outcomes and results of the project, including statistical information about the numbers of people served and geographic areas served.

Fourth grant payment

The fourth and final payment will be for the balance of the total Phase II allocation (the final 10 percent) and will be made following receipt and approval of the Final Grant Report.

Records retention

Grantees must provide access to any books, records, documents and papers pertaining to the grant for purposes of program or financial review by the IAC or its agents. Adequate records need to be maintained to substantiate all financial and program information reported to the IAC for a period of no fewer than three years.

Monitoring

The Indiana Arts Commission will monitor the assessment process and activities funded through this category. You will be advised if your organization has been selected for a random field audit.

CONDITIONS AND REQUIREMENTS

Public manifestation

There must be a public manifestation of all funded activities within the year they are supported. "Public manifestation" means the project must result in a product or activity that is available to the public. "Available" means activities must be accessible to persons with special needs and open to the audience, participants, or public, either free or by reasonable admission or service charge.

Civil Rights

The Indiana Arts Commission complies with all state and federal laws and regulations concerning civil and human rights and must assure that programs, awards, and employment practices are free of any discrimination based on race, color, national origin, physical disability, religion, gender, or age.

Your signed grant application and Grant Agreement indicates that your organization understands and is in compliance with these laws:

- Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 200d) which provides that no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance.
- Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 200e) as amended by the Equal Opportunity Act of 1972 (Public Law 92-261).
- Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (29 U.S.C. 706) provides that no otherwise qualified handicapped individual in the United States, as defined in the law, shall, solely by reason of his handicap, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal assistance.

The term "handicapped individual" means "any person who (a) has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more of such person's major life activities, (b) has a record of such an impairment, or (c) is regarded as having such an impairment."

- Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 which provides for nondiscrimination in public accommodation on the basis of disability.

WORKING WITH CONSULTANTS

What is Consulting?

Consulting can be defined as “professional work performed by trained and experienced people whose aim is to help the client.” A good consultant can diagnose problems, recommend solutions and, when necessary, help implement those solutions. The consultant’s principal value is the ability to tailor analyses and advice to the particular client’s situation.

Why Hire a Consultant?

- Objectivity – an outsider’s view uninfluenced by internal politics or previous commitments.
- A new perspective – sees things in a new light.
- Expertise – brings specialized experience and training.
- Regeneration – education on latest concepts.

How to Locate a Consultant?

- Professional association listing
- Trusted friends and colleagues

How to Select a Consultant?

The Executive Director can take the following steps, alone or in conjunction with representatives from the planning team.

- Identify your needs
Determine the nature and general scope of the project before contacting prospective consultants.
- Review candidates
Review the qualifications and experience of several consultants in relation to the project.
- Meet the candidates
Hold preliminary discussions with a handful of candidates.
- Request proposals
Have each prospective consultant discuss in writing the project and his/her approach to it.
- Check references
Review reports of previous consultant work; talk with individuals who have hired and actually worked with the consultant.
- Study proposals
Weigh the information from each consultant carefully. Look for understanding of the problem, probable benefits and costs of the suggested approach, and the experience and skills of the consultant.
- Conduct final negotiations with the selected consultant
Negotiate a concise written contract outlining fees and services. Include: a definition of the project; the objectives and scope of the project; a recommended program for accomplishing the work; a description of the methods to be used; a time schedule; and an estimate of fees and the method of payment.

For income tax purposes, assure that contract wording makes clear that the consultant is an independent Consultant not an employee. Many consultants will have their own standard contract. If this is presented, review it carefully to assure that the wording meets or can be revised to meet the needs of both parties.

The Working Relationship

The client-consultant relationship will determine the success of the engagement. A productive engagement requires that each party learn the other party's needs. To establish an effective relationship:

- Discuss the basic motivations of the project with the consultant
- Announce the arrival of the consultant to all personnel who will work with him/her
- Inform the consultant of the climate in which he/she can expect to work
- Provide management support for the project
- Respect the fact that the consultant is an independent agent
- Guide, coordinate, and keep in touch with the project as it progresses

Evaluating the Consultant

An important measure of the value of the consultant's assistance is the number of recommendations that are implemented. Other questions to consider are:

- Did the consultant actually do what was outlined in the contract agreement?
- Did the consultant follow the proposed timetable?
- Did you get the services of the consultant with whom you contracted, or were several junior partners delegated responsibility for your projects?
- Did the consultant work effectively with the organization's board, staff, and other personnel?
- Did the consultant maintain an open-minded, professional posture in analyzing and studying your situation?
- Were the special talents, experience, and knowledge of the consultant applied?
- Were sound facts presented to substantiate judgments?
- How effective was the presentation of findings to board and staff?
- Were the consultant's recommendations and methods appropriate and feasible for your organization?

GUIDELINES FOR IN-KIND INCOME AND EXPENSES

Contact your accountant or the IAC with questions regarding budgeting in-kind expenses and income. Because not-for-profit organizations often receive donated materials and services (“in-kind” contributions), special accounting guidelines have been established to deal with these items. These guidelines should be followed when the applicant includes in-kind match in the proposed budget.

- Donated MATERIALS of significance should be reported at their fair market value if the recipient organization has an objective, measurable basis for assigning value. (Usually the value is assigned by the donor.)
- Donated SERVICES of significance should be reported if: 1) they are a normal part of a project and would be otherwise performed by paid personnel; 2) the organization exercises control over the duties of the donor; and 3) there is a measurable basis for assigning a value to the service being donated.
- The following CANNOT be claimed as in-kind services: 1) Services designed to be provided by volunteers; 2) Periodic volunteer services for fund raising; 3) Professional personnel engaged in research or training activities without pay or with a nominal allowance; and 4) The value of time donated by the organization's board of directors and board committee members in carrying out governance activities.
- In-kind donations of materials and services must be able to be audited with a written record of each contribution. The written record should include: organization name, donor name and signature, date, description of the donated item or service, the value of the donated item or service (as assigned by the donor) and the signature of the person receiving the donation on behalf of the organization. Grantees using in-kind as a portion of match will be required to submit documentation with their final grant reports.
